

Valerie Beutel

Valerie Beutel is the AmeriCorps Director of the CHANGE, INC program at Baldwin Wallace University. She is a proud AmeriCorps alum and began her journey with national service as an AmeriCorps member in 2013 before moving into a director position in 2014. She obtained her bachelor's degree from Kent State University in Health Care Administration with a business minor, and her master's degree in Community Health Promotion from Cleveland State University. As an AmeriCorps Alum, Valerie is a firm believer that national service members play a vital role in addressing the social determinants of health and is committed to striving to achieve greater health equity for our citizens.
